magisterial

arrest.

6. On receipt of an order of the Central Government under section 5, the magistrate shall issue a warrant for the arrest of the fugitive criminal.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provisions, the magistrate shall, in particular, take such evidence as may be produced in support of the requisition of the foreign State or commonwealth country and on behalf of the fugitive criminal, including any evidence to show that the offence of which the fugitive criminal is accused or has been convicted is an offence of political character or is not an extradition offence. 20

(3) If the magistrate is of opinion that a prima facie case is not made out in support of the requisition of the foreign State or commonwealth country, he shall discharge the fugitive criminal.

(4) If the magistrate is of opinion that a prima facie case is made out in support of the requisition of the foreign State or commonwealth country, he may commit the fugitive criminal to prison to await the orders of the Central Government, and shall report the result of his inquiry to the Central Government; and shall forward together with such report, any written statement which the fugitive criminal may desire to submit for the consideration of the Central Government. 25 30

9. (1) Where it appears to any magistrate that a person within the local limits of his jurisdiction is a fugitive criminal of a foreign State or commonwealth country, he may, if he thinks fit, issue a warrant for the arrest of that person on such information and on such evidence as would, in his opinion, justify the issue of a warrant if the offence of which the person is accused or has been convicted had been committed within the local limits of his jurisdiction.

arrest in certain cases.

and authentication

(b) the depositions or statements or copies thereof purport to be certified, under the hand of a judge, magistrate or officer of the State or country where the same were taken, or acting in or for such State or country, to be the original depositions or statements or to be true copies thereof, as the case may require;

(c) the certificate of, or judicial document stating the fact of, a conviction purports to be certified by a judge, magistrate or officer of the State or country where the conviction took place or acting in or for such State;

(d) the warrants, depositions, statements, copies, certificates and judicial documents, as the case may be, are authenticated by the oath of some witness or by the official seal of a minister of the State or country where the same were respectively issued, taken or given.

11. Nothing contained in this Chapter shall apply to fugitive criminals of a commonwealth country to which Chapter III applies.

CHAPTER III

RETURN OF FUGITIVE CRIMINALS TO COMMONWEALTH COUNTRIES WITH EXTRADITION ARRANGEMENTS

Application of Chapter.

12. (1) This Chapter shall apply only to any such commonwealth country to which, by reason of an extradition arrangement entered into with that country, it may seem expedient to the Central Government to apply the same.

(2) Every such application shall be by notified order, and the Central Government may, by the same or any subsequent notified order, direct that this Chapter and Chapters I, IV and V shall, in relation to any such commonwealth country, apply subject to such modifications, exceptions, conditions and qualifications as it may think fit to specify in the order for the purpose of implementing the arrangement.

Liability of fugitive criminals from commonwealth countries to be apprehended and returned.

13. Where a fugitive criminal of any commonwealth country to which this Chapter applies is found in India, he shall be liable to be apprehended and returned in the manner provided by this Chapter to that commonwealth country.

Endorsed and provisional warrants.

14. A fugitive criminal may be apprehended in India under an endorsed warrant or a provisional warrant.

Endorsed warrant for apprehension of fugitive criminal.

15. Where a warrant for the apprehension of a fugitive criminal has been issued in any commonwealth country to which this Chapter applies and such fugitive criminal is, or is suspected to be, in India, the Central Government may, if satisfied that the warrant was issued by a person having lawful authority to issue the same, endorse such warrant in the manner prescribed, and the warrant so endorsed shall be sufficient authority to apprehend the person named in the warrant and to bring him before any magistrate in India.

16. (1) Any magistrate may issue a provisional warrant for the 5 apprehension of a fugitive criminal from any commonwealth country to which this Chapter applies who is, or is suspected to be, in or on his way to India, on such information and under such circumstances as would, in his opinion, justify the issue of a warrant, if the offence of which the fugitive criminal is accused or has been 10 convicted had been committed within his jurisdiction and such warrant may be executed accordingly.

Provisional warrant for apprehension of

(2) A magistrate issuing a provisional warrant shall forthwith send a report of the issue of the warrant together with the information or a certified copy thereof to the Central Government, and the 15 Central Government may, if it thinks fit, discharge the person apprehended under such warrant.

(3) A fugitive criminal apprehended on a provisional warrant may, from time to time, be remanded for such reasonable time, not exceeding seven days at any one time, as under the circumstances 20 seems requisite for the production of an endorsed warrant.

17. (1) If the magistrate, before whom a person apprehended under this Chapter is brought, is satisfied on inquiry that the endorsed warrant for the apprehension of the fugitive criminal is duly authenticated and that the offence of which the person is accused or has 25 been convicted is an extradition offence, the magistrate shall commit the fugitive criminal to prison to await his return and shall forthwith send to the Central Government a certificate of the committal.

Dealing with fugitive criminal when apprehended.

(2) If on such inquiry the magistrate is of opinion that the endorsed warrant is not duly authenticated or that the offence of which 30 such person is accused or has been convicted is not an extradition offence, the magistrate may, pending the receipt of the orders of the Central Government, detain such person in custody or release him on ball.

(3) The magistrate shall report the result of his inquiry to the 35 Central Government and shall forward together with such report any written statement which the fugitive criminal may desire to submit for the consideration of that Government.

18. The Central Government may, at any time after a fugitive criminal has been committed to prison under this Chapter, issue 40 a warrant for the custody and removal to the commonwealth country concerned of the fugitive criminal and for his delivery at a place and to a person to be named in the warrant.

Return
criminal by warrant.

CHAPTER IV

(a) to a diplomatic representative of that State or country at Delhi; or 10

(b) to the Government of that State or country through the diplomatic representative of India in that State or country; and if neither of these modes is convenient, the requisition shall be made in such other mode as is settled by arrangement made by the Government of India with that State or country. 15

(2) A warrant issued by a magistrate in India for the apprehension of any person who is, or is suspected to be, in any commonwealth country to which Chapter III applies shall be in such form as may be prescribed.

Any person accused or convicted of an extradition offence 20 who is surrendered or returned by a foreign State or commonwealth country may, under the warrant of arrest for his surrender or return issued in such State or country, be brought into India and delivered to the proper authority to be dealt with according to law.

Accused or convicted person surrendered or returned by foreign State or Commonwealth country not to be tried for previous offence. 21. Whenever any person accused or convicted of an offence, 25 which, if committed in India would be an extradition offence, is surrendered or returned by a foreign State or commonwealth country, that person shall not, until he has been restored or has had an opportunity of returning to that State or country, be tried in India for an offence committed prior to the surrender or return, other 30 than the extradition offence proved by the facts on which the surrender or return is based.

CHAPTER V

Every fugitive criminal of a foreign State or commonwealth 35 country shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be liable to be arrested and surrendered or returned, whether the offence in respect of which the surrender or return is sought was committed before or after the commencement of this Act, and whether or not a court in India has jurisdiction to try that offence. 40

23. Where the offence in respect of which the surrender or return of a fugitive criminal is sought was committed on board any vessel on the high seas or any aircraft while in the air outside India or the Indian territorial waters which comes into any port or aerodrome of India, the Central Government and any magistrate having jurisdiction in such port or aerodrome may exercise the powers conferred by this Act.

25. In the case of a person who is a fugitive criminal arrested or detained under this Act, the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, relating to bail shall apply in the same manner as they would apply if such person were accused of committing in India the offence of which he is accused or has been convicted, and in relation to such bail, the magistrate before whom the fugitive criminal is brought shall have, as far as may be, the same powers and jurisdiction as a court of session under that Code.

neous requi-

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

At present, the law of extradition applicable to India is to be found scattered in the United Kingdom Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1932, the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881, and the Indian Extradition Act, 1903. The United Kingdom Extradition Act, 1870, in its application to India, authorised the extradition of fugitive offenders between India and 'foreign States', a term which meant States to which that Act was made applicable by Her Britannic Majesty's Order in Council. The Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881, on the other hand, provided a method whereby extradition of fugitive offenders could be effected between the British dominions and possessions by a simplified form of procedure. The Indian Extradition Act, 1903, modified and supplemented the other laws by—

(a) prescribing the procedure for the surrender of fugitive criminals in the case of 'foreign States';

(b) providing a special machinery for the surrender of fugitive criminals in case of States other than 'foreign States'; and

(c) specifying the officers in India who may exercise the powers conferred by the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881.

2. The Indian Extradition Act, 1903, was not extended to Part B States in 1951 when the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951, was enacted as it was felt even then that this should be done by a separate law, after a proper examination of the position. The result is that the legal position relating to the surrender of fugitive criminals to 'foreign States' and commonwealth countries under the existing law from the erstwhile Part B States is somewhat doubtful. Further, the Supreme Court, in its judgment in the State of Madras vs. C. G. Menon reported in (1955) Supreme Court Reporter 280, has held that after India became a Republic, the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881 has ceased to apply to India. Moreover, the present law relating to extradition contains certain lacunae on questions such as concurrent requests for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from more than one State.

3. The purpose of this Bill is to remove all such anomalies and fill in the lacunae that exist at present in the law relating to extradition and enact a consolidated and amended law for the extradition of fugitive criminals to all foreign States and commonwealth countries.

4. A Bill on the subject was introduced in the Lok Sabha on the 7th August, 1961. The Bill was referred to a Joint Committee and the Committee presented the report on the 30th November, 1961. The Bill, as reported by the Joint Committee, could not be taken up for consideration in Parliament for want of time and it lapsed on the dissolution of the Lok Sabha. The present Bill incorporates all the recommendations made by the Joint Committee and opportunity has been taken to make certain minor changes.

5. The Notes on Clauses explain in detail the various provisions of the Bill.

NEW DELHI;
The 8th June, 1962.

JAWAHARLAL NEHRU.

Notes on Clauses

Clause 2.—Sub-clause (a).—Definition of commonwealth country is more or less on the same lines as in the Citizenship Act, 1955. A few more countries which have gained independence have been added in the First Schedule. The sub-clause would enable the Central Government to include new commonwealth countries in the Schedule.

Sub-clause (b).—Certain foreign laws like the French provide for the condemnation of an accused person par contumace but such condemnation is annulled if the accused person appears before the court, when his trial begins afresh. Such a person is correctly described as an accused person and not as a convicted person for the purposes of the extradition law. This sub-clause is intended to clarify this position and follows similar definitions in the United Kingdom and Canadian Acts.

Sub-clause (c).—The expression “extradition offence” is so defined as to mean, in relation to a foreign State being a treaty State, an offence provided for in the extradition treaty with that State and in relation to a foreign State other than a treaty State or in relation to a commonwealth country, an offence which is specified in, or which may be specified by notification under, the Second Schedule.

Sub-clause (d).—The definition of “extradition treaty” covers even pre-Independence treaties.

Clause 3.—This clause covers all States outside India including commonwealth countries to which Chapter III does not apply. The Act can become operative in relation to such States only on the issue of a notified order. Provision has been made in the clause whereby it may be possible to make this Act effective only in relation to certain parts of India. In regard to a treaty State, power has also been taken to render the application of the Act subject to such modifications, exceptions, conditions and qualifications as may be deemed expedient for implementing the treaty with that State.

Clause 4.—This clause prescribes the channel through which a requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal of a foreign State or a commonwealth country to which Chapter III does not apply may be made to the Central Government.

Clause 5.—This clause empowers the Central Government to issue an order to a magistrate having jurisdiction to enquire into the offence in respect of which requisition has been received under clause 4. This clause follows sub-section (1) of section 3 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clauses 6 and 7.—These clauses prescribe the procedure to be followed by a magistrate when order is received by him under clause 5. These clauses more or less are based on sub-sections (2), (3), (4) and (6) of section 3 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clause 8.—This clause is based on sub-section (8) of section 3 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clause 9.—This clause more or less reproduces section 4 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clause 10.—This clause reproduces section 17 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clause 11.—This clause makes it clear that Chapter II will not apply in respect of fugitive criminals of a commonwealth country to which Chapter III applies.

Clause 12.—This clause makes it clear that Chapter III will apply only to such of the commonwealth countries as have entered into extradition arrangements with the Central Government. Sub-clause (2) of this clause further provides that every such application shall be by notified order. The Central Government is further empowered to apply the provisions of Chapter III and other Chapters in relation to any such commonwealth country subject to such modifications, exceptions, conditions and qualifications as it may think fit to specify for the purposes of implementing the arrangement.

Clause 13.—This clause makes it clear that a fugitive criminal of a commonwealth country to which Chapter III is made applicable shall be liable to be apprehended and returned in the manner provided in the said Chapter.

Clause 15.—This clause follows section 13 of the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881.

Clause 16.—Sub-clause (1) of this clause follows section 16 of the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881. Sub-clause (2) requires a magistrate issuing a provisional warrant under sub-clause (1) to report the issue of such warrant to the Central Government.

Clause 17.—This clause empowers the magistrate to hear evidence and satisfy himself whether the offence of which the person is accused or has been convicted is an extradition offence and also whether the warrant for the apprehension of the fugitive criminal has been duly authenticated. Power has also been conferred on him to release the fugitive criminal on bail if he is not satisfied on either of the two aforesaid points.

Clause 18.—This clause makes it clear that the power of returning the fugitive criminal to the commonwealth country concerned will lie with the Central Government.

Clause 19.—Sub-clause (1) of this clause prescribes the channel for requisition for the surrender of a person accused or convicted of an extradition offence committed in India and who is or is suspected to be in any foreign State or a commonwealth country to which Chapter III does not apply.

Clause 21.—This clause is based on section 19 of the United Kingdom Extradition Act, 1870. It provides to foreign countries the same safeguards in our law as we insist upon from them under clause 31 (c) before allowing surrender of fugitive criminals.

Clause 22.—This clause states the liability of a fugitive criminal in express terms even with regard to offences committed before the commencement of the Act. The clause corresponds to a certain extent section 16 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clause 23.—This clause follows section 20 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903 but the scope of the clause has been widened so as also to cover offences committed in the air.

Clause 24.—This clause is on the same lines as sub-section (10) of section 3 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clause 25.—This clause follows sub-section (4) of section 10 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903. It has been made clear in this clause that the magistrate before whom the fugitive criminal is brought shall have the same powers and jurisdiction in relation to granting of bail as a court of session under the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Clause 26.—This clause follows section 13 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clause 27.—This clause follows section 3(9) and section 14 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903.

Clause 29.—This clause follows section 10 of the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881 with this difference that power under that section is exercisable by a court whereas the power under this clause is exercisable by the Central Government.

Clause 30.—This clause makes a provision to meet a contingency when the surrender of a fugitive criminal has been requested by more than one State simultaneously. The clause is based mainly on the fact that there are quite a number of offences which consist of a series of penal transactions each one of which may be completed or originated in one or more States separately. Under this clause the Central Government would decide to which State or country a fugitive criminal may be surrendered after taking into consideration all the circumstances of the case, namely, the respective dates on which the requisitions were received, the relative gravity of the offences alleged and the like.

Clause 31.—This clause contains the usual restrictions on surrender. The period of fifteen days specified in sub-clause (e) of this clause would enable the fugitive criminal to move the appropriate court for his release by filing a writ petition of habeas corpus.

Clause 32.—It has been made clear in this clause that the Central Government cannot modify the application of the provisions of clauses 29 and 31 which shall apply in all cases of extradition under this Bill.

Clauses 33, 34 and 35.—These clauses are self-explanatory.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Proceedings for extradition of fugitive criminals to foreign States and commonwealth countries under the Bill would involve arrest of the fugitive criminal, an enquiry by a Magistrate and in some cases the removal of the fugitive criminal and his delivery to the foreign State or commonwealth country. Such proceedings will also involve the detention of the fugitive criminal in police/jail custody, and the State shall have to involve expenditure during such detention/custody. In so far as the Union territories are concerned, such expenditure will be met from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is not possible to estimate the amount of expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India as that amount will depend on the number of requests for extradition that may be received in any given period.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 36 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules by notification in the Official Gazette to carry out the purposes of the Act. The matters in respect of which such rules may be made are specified therein.

2. Most of those matters are of a routine character. They inter alia relate to the form in which a requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal may be made, the form in which a warrant for the apprehension of any person in a commonwealth country to which Chapter III applies may be made, the manner in which any warrant may be endorsed or authenticated, the seizure and disposition of any property which is the subject of any extradition offence, and the form and manner in which or the channel through which a magistrate may be required to make his report to the Central Government.

3. Under clause 3(1), power is conferred on the Central Government to apply by notified order the provisions of the Act (other than Chapter III), to such foreign State or to such commonwealth country to which the provisions of Chapter III do not apply, as may be specified in that order. Under clause 3(2), however, power is reserved to the Central Government to restrict such application to fugitive criminals found in such part of India as may be specified in the order. As regards a treaty State, the Central Government has been empowered to make the application of the Act subject to such modifications and exceptions as may be deemed expedient for implementing the treaty with that State. The question to which countries or States the Act should be made applicable is a little difficult and complicated one. Reciprocity and other considerations such as terms of a treaty may have to be weighed. It is not possible to specify all such considerations in the Act. The Central Government has therefore been vested with the necessary power in this regard.

4. Under clause 12, power has been reserved to the Central Government to apply by notified order the provisions of Chapter III to such commonwealth countries as may enter into extradition arrangement with the Government of India. Power is also reserved to the Central Government to make the application of Chapter III and of Chapters I, IV and V subject to such modifications, exceptions, conditions and qualifications as may be specified in the order for the purpose of implementing the arrangement. It is not possible to visualise at this stage what sort of extradition arrangement will be entered into by different commonwealth countries and consequently it is difficult to specify in the Act the modifications, exceptions, conditions and qualifications subject to which the Act may be made applicable.

5. Having regard to the circumstances under which powers under clauses 3 and 12 will be exercised by the Central Government, the powers delegated to it are of a normal character.
